A GOOD GIVING JOURNEY

We all want to make a difference in our country

Some of us started by CSI giving

But we're not sure if we're making any real difference

Is it worth continuing?

But what, and how?

And we know it's up to us to make the change

Still, poverty remains a reality that affects us all

Nation Builder is here to help with exactly that

Whether its through our blog or thought pieces

Or attending one of our events

You commit your business as an agent of change

With help, you identify your own areas of improvement

Through Nation Builder, you come to realise the power of your business to change our nation

Through Nation Builder resources, you learn continuously

Doing this together, we can know more and do better

So, you join the online good giving business network

You share your successes with partners and colleagues

Gradually, your social impact goes from strength to strength

Through collaboration and peer-to-peer learning, relationships form

And so, the South African business community grows in good giving and social impact

And becomes a force for good

Together, we're laying the foundations of a more prosperous South Africa
